

Terms and conditions to be agreed between authors and The Endless Bookcase

This document sets out the terms and conditions under which The Endless Bookcase Ltd supplies Publishing Packages. The Endless Bookcase Ltd reserves the right to change, add, subtract or in other ways alter these Terms without the prior consent of the Author.

By making a purchase of a publishing package, add-on or additional service you are deemed to have accepted these terms and conditions.

1 Introduction

This document sets out in plain language the terms and conditions of author membership and publication agreed between The Endless Bookcase (The publisher) and its authors. The initial fee for a book package includes a membership and the publication of one work by the author (as an e-Book or eBook plus printed book) and therefore these terms and condition include and serve as a simple and binding publishing agreement.

Note that in what follows “the author” may also be interpreted as “the authors” if applicable.

The Endless Bookcase is a “co-operative publisher” aiming to work in partnership with its authors.

2 Roles and responsibilities

The author is responsible for the following.

- Producing a manuscript for a specified title (may be provisional) in the form and format specified by The Endless Bookcase.
- Making sure copyright has not been breached and that no content is illegal or likely to be the subject of civil action (e.g. libel or defamation). Note that this includes obtaining written clearance for any copyright material from other sources.
- Providing supplementary information and material relating to the promotion of the book.
- Making sure that links and supplementary material reference in the book are available as and when they should be.
- Checking and correcting the drafts and finished manuscript and any individual editions produced by The Endless Bookcase. This includes responsibility for spelling, grammar, punctuation, facts and figures.
- Submitting a final finished manuscript for publication as a Microsoft Word document formatted as per a template supplied by The Endless Bookcase.
- Checking the pre-publication typeset proof copy and submitting any final changes in a single document with each change clearly stated and referenced.
- Making sure that adequate reviews of the books are obtained pre-production so that these can be included in the creation of the first edition and promotional material.
- Taking an active role in the pre-release of the book by way of obtaining reviews and endorsements, and taking an ongoing and active part in promotions after publication.

Terms and conditions to be agreed between authors and The Endless Bookcase

- Providing suitable content for the front and back cover including a headshot of the author and artwork.
- Providing bank details so that royalty payments can be paid electronically.

The publisher, The Endless Bookcase, is responsible for the following.

- Pre-production checks, although it remains the responsibility of the author to submit finished and checked manuscripts. Minor corrections to the submitted manuscript will be undertaken by The Endless Bookcase but if the manuscript fails the checks it may be returned to the author for correction.
- Converting the manuscript into forms suitable for publishing each edition including electronic and printed editions.
- Production of a cover using standard templates, or using artwork submitted by the author or commissioned from a third party at extra charge.
- Obtaining and allocating an ISBN number for each edition and providing copies to such agencies that are entitled to receive them under the terms of issue of an ISBN. Exceptionally, the author may provide an ISBN in which case the legal responsibilities are those needed to comply with the relevant authorities.
- Final editing and formatting.
- The organisation of the production of all electronic and printed editions.
- All pricing decisions – but in consultation with the author.
- The release and distribution of each edition through suitable channels including electronic editions and printed editions.
- The collection of payments for all book sales through the channels used.
- The payment of royalties to the author for all payments received.

Note that The Endless Bookcase has set up an on-line shop through which books in various electronic formats can be sold and downloaded – and printed copies purchased for delivery where applicable.

3. Rights

The author retains copyright of the work.

The publisher has exclusive primary and secondary rights to edit, format, offer for download, print, distribute, ship and sell the work in any medium.

4. Commercial arrangements

The author shall pay the The Endless Bookcase an agreed publication package fee for one or more book packages which gives access to author membership and is a contribution to the costs of publishing the work submitted by the author.

An author may choose to upgrade book packages and purchase add-ons at any time. The terms and conditions within this agreement apply to any such upgrade or add-on.

Additional works may also be published through the purchase of additional packages at published rates which are normally lower than those for a first-time publication.

Terms and conditions to be agreed between authors and
*The Endless Bookcase

For each electronic edition on sale the author receives a royalty that is 50% of the net of costs and tax retail sales price for each book sold directly or indirectly by The Endless Bookcase .

The royalties for paper editions are as follows.

- Where the edition is printed and sold directly or indirectly by The Endless Bookcase the author receives a royalty that is 50% of the net of costs and tax retail sales price for each book sold.
- Where the author buys directly from The Endless Bookcase in order to sell copies themselves the author pays the cost price plus shipping where applicable and retains 100% of the revenue of each book sold. This is similar to a self-publishing arrangement.
- Where the author buys in bulk (50 copies or more) from The Endless Bookcase the author may place stock with The Endless Bookcase for sale. The author receives a royalty of 80% of the price for each book sold.

Royalties are normally paid in arrears every six months based on confirmed sales returns. If the total royalty amount due is less than £10 it may be rolled over to the next royalty period.

These terms apply from 1st February 2018 until further notice.
